τον θεί(οτάτο οίκου. The recipient of the latter can hardly be anybody else than the dux of the Thebaid. The letter is solicited by the known poet and provincial lawyer, in the name of the sons of the late Apollos, originating from the village of Aphrodite in their troubles with Theodosius who had received the public taxes for the eleventh indiction but had deposited nothing on the account in the public treasury. In order that these matters be not also brought by them to the imperial hearing, he asks the dux to take quick action in the matter. The letter is in close connection with Gen. 210 and Cair. Masp. 67.032 and 67.126.

This text (V cent. A.D.) belongs to a large codex. Vv 34—53 contain a scholion which deals with the longi temporis possessio. In v. 60 and 78 the term condictitius is mentioned. Probably was the actio condicitia [cf. C 4, 30, 14 (528 A.D.)] the subject of the work, to which our fragments belong.

The author devotes his article to a papyrus published by Hans Oellacher in Mitteilungen aus der Papyrussammlung der Nationalbibliothek in Wien (Pap. Erzh. Rain.) N.S. III Folge: Griechische literarische Papyri II (1939) under № 38. The papyrus contains probably scholia from a work on condictiones and derives from the V cent. A.D.

The pap. concern the requisition of corn and clothes for the use of the army.

This document from the VI cent. A.D. is a new example of a sale on delivery (cf. my Law I 234 ff). The editors give a list of such sales.
