F. Lafranchi, Ricerche sul valore giuridico delle dichiarazioni di nascita in diritto romano, Bologna, 1951.

In this dissertation the author is concerned with relationship of the professio to the testatio, and comes to the conclusion that whilst professio was intended only and exclusively for the cases of legitimate birth, the testatio normally was applied in the cases of illegitimate children. Marcus Aurelius suppressed the professio as well as the testatio and created the only mode of profiteri for all the cases of the professio generica. On p. 213 ff. the author revises the professiones and testationes contained in the papyri. For this reason his work is very important for papyrologists.

H. C. Youtie, The Heidelberg festival papyrus (Studies Johnson, 178—208).

The author is concerned with the text of S. B. 7551 (2nd century A. D.) — a specification of special days during which (according to Youtie) an apprentice was free from work. As Seidl (11 Bericht, 362) assumes, the above mentioned text gives to the historian of the law the solution of the question in what manner the need of leisure was protected by the Roman provincial law which prescribed for this purpose 20—36 days a year.

I. Καλλέρης, Αἱ πρῶται ὅλαι τῆς ὑφαντουργίας εἰς τὴν πτολεμαϊκὴν Αἴγυπτον, Athènes, 1952 (extr. from the 'Επετηρὶς τοῦ Λαογραφικοῦ Ἀρχείου τῆς Ἀκαδημίας Ἀθηνῶν, vol. 6, [1950—1951], p. 78—230).

In this dissertation the author deals with the production, preparation and, to some extent with the use of raw products of textile industry in the Ptolemaic Egypt. The work touches juristic problems cf. e. g. ἀναγραφή (λειας) 100, 101, 102₂, 106; ἀπογραφή (λειας) 101₃, 103—109, 146₈; ἀρχιψυλαχίτης 98₂; βεβαιωτήρ 108₄; γενηματοφύλακες 115₃; γῆ (βασιλική, ἐν ἀφέσει, ἵερα, ἰδιόκτητος, κληρουχική) 97₂; διάγραμμα 105, 106₂; διδασκαλική 135₅, 200₅; ἐννόμιον 99₂, 100—114, 116₃, 117_{7, 8}, 146; ἔντευξις 139₁₂, 181₆, 203₅; ἐπιστάτης (φυλακιῶν) 98₂; κωμάρχης 106₃, 107; κωμογραμματεὺς 107; νομάρχης 96₇; οἰκονόμος 100; πρόσταγμα 103, 105, 106₂; τράπεζα (βασιλική) 203₁; τραπεζίτης 212₁; φόρος (νομῶν) 112—116; προβάτων 129—132; αἰγῶν 146₈ 147₃; φυλακῖται 98₂; φυλακιτικόν 99₂, 117: Therefore the papyrologists can find much interesting information in this work.
